THINK DATA: BRIDGING THE DATA GAP

February crowns teens and young adults' content. Is this enough for the mainstream platforms?

Hello again! This is our second report after the Think Data launch. In this report you'll be able to see SVOD data from Netflix and Amazon across key European territories like France, Germany, Italy, Spain and UK. The data comes from our partner SODA Digital in the UK who hold their own audience panels in all these countries.

In this new monthly foreword, we'd like to analyse the two main trends that we feel most directly affect indie cinema and series: on the one hand, we observe the confirmed boom of Asian content, and on the other, we see the lack of definite success of Oscar-contenders in the Netflix grid and the implications with regard to its first loss of subscribers in a decade.

This month of April we read the news of Netflix having a disastrous quarter, losing subscribers worldwide, but more importantly their stock value. When we rewind and see the February data in this report, we do understand some of the hypotheses that are behind this loss of subscribers: one of the key trends across territories in this analysis is that there is a radical concentration of teens and young adults' content in top positions. It seems that the omnipresent transversal nature of Netflix across generations is not so visible this month. Is there more to it though? Platforms like HBO MAX and Apple TV, and, in the case of Spain, Filmin and Movistar+, are probably concentrating on a wider amount of audience due to their bet on adult movies and series. Is Netflix the only platform being adversely affected by this segmentation among young people?

Linked to the above, did Netflix neglect their Oscar-nominated titles? Would this kind of titles be key to getting subscribers back? Did the algorithm treat the Oscar-nominated titles well enough during this pre-Oscar month of February? Probably not: "The Power of the Dog", "Madres Paralelas" and "The Hand of God" are not present in the top numbers or in the scaled outdoor advertising campaigns. In an article at Indiewire1, Eric Kohn analyses the relation between the fall noticed in Netflix of Netflix and the potential of festival movies to reverse the trend and quickly reverse the situation: "The studio could go back to acquiring festival movies — the very best of the circuit — and quickly assemble a library of top-shelf cinema with direct relevance to its current needs. (...) The bottom line makes it clear that Netflix must provide quality to lure subscribers and keep them." Will we see the giant streamer buying again in Cannes some allure and prestige in order to improve its numbers and image?

In the hot titles of our report, we have included a varied spectrum of genres and natures: all of them are teen and young adult like the DNA of this month: from toppers like the documentary "Tinder Swindler", Spanish original based on the Wattpad community, "Through My Window", Amazon Original TV Format "L.O.L. Last One Laughing" and Korean zombie-thriller boomer "All of Us Are Dead", we get a sampled analysis of the current nature of the big streamers hits. In the two weeks immediately following release, "All of Us Are Dead" was the most-watched show globally among English or non-English-language content. After "Squid Game", it seems like the algorithm has a new favourite and it's pushing it to top level. Check the report to see all the figures and insights about the K-trend. Is Korean content a potential lifesaver for Netflix? Is foreign language content going to boom and have a more important role?

We wish you pleasant reading, with lots of food for thought!

WHAT IS SODA

HOW WE DO WHAT WE DO...

In 2019, Digital i developed SoDA, our new SVOD viewing measurement system, starting with the biggest SVOD service in the world, Netflix. In 2020 we built upon the success of the project by launching measurement of Amazon Prime Video.

Much like TV audience measurement systems across the world, SoDA is a sample based system, however, our methodology is unique in the sense that it collects accurate viewing data that comes directly from the accounts of a fully managed panel.

The data we use is passively collected, meaning zero human error. Our methodology also means that we capture viewing across all devices (including the TV set) and also viewing to content that is recorded and viewed offline.

We are currently collecting this data from a sample of over 6250 accounts, this data is then processed through our system and weights are applied to make the viewing data representative of the subscriber bases in each territory. Our sampling methodologies have been verified by leading statisticians and are statistically robust.

The data allows us to interrogate SVOD viewing in great detail, including analysing total consumption, the lifecycle of content, binge viewing, series loyalty and much more.

The data is available through our online dashboard system which allows users to login and directly access and interrogate SVOD data with unprecedented flexibility.

The data is available in the following territories - UK, France, Germany, Spain and Italy.

All use of Digital i SoDA data in the press should be attributed as - Digital i - SoDA

Digital i's SVOD Measurement System SoDA

GIVE THE AUDIENCE WHAT THEY WANT.

From its beginning, Netflix's mantra always followed the giving the user what they want, a user-centric philosophy imitated by the other operating competitors in the sector. User consumption sketches a valuable map of preferences that companies employ to design a programming stream that boosts as many viewing hours as possible.

February charts perfectly reveal this strategy applied to one of the most complicated demographic targets: the young. Late millennials and centennials have been brought up in the age of digital buffet, with the notion of unstructured consumption fully internalized. Internal motivations to pick up one content and throw away another vary. Although two consuming drives stand out above the list: the movies/series that become relevant cultural objects among their niche or community and the content narratively produced to binge- this assumption explains the "Through My Window" phenomena. Content counted with an existing fanbase (the story was initially posted on Wattpad) and was produced with all the fiction feature traits that Netflix masters so well for attracting a young audience; the movie reached Top3 in all the markets but the UK. It has been a smash even in one of the harshest territories for the local serialized fiction (Germany), which reinforces the international potential of these genres even in markets that are difficult for non-English-speaking productions to penetrate.

Another excellent example is the classic television formats reinterpret/redefined by streaming platforms to bring content closer to new generations. New LATAM serialized content (known as telenovelas) is now oriented to a younger and easy-going target getting excellent consuming statistics in the south of the Europe market. Something on those lines applies to traditional entertainment TV formats, now found their OTT version. LOL (Prime Video): a hybrid of reality and game shows where local comedians compete to break their opponents to laugh first, is building up its success over an exciting strategy. The content bet on the local adaptation to wake market audience's interest, whom later leans to explore other countries editions.

The pattern constituted a chained consumption mechanism that bolsters the platform branding extraordinarily.

Meeting what the audience demands the most is equally essential to explain the success and the flops, as happens with the lack of tradition of original productions as Oscars contenders. Neither author content (Jane Campion, Pedro Almodóvar, Paolo Sorrentino) nor mainstream proposals (Adam McKay) have significantly impacted the European rankings during a month in which the media outlet remarkably insisted on the Oscar Race.

European audience diet keeps diverse and various, and platforms know menu has to be vast. But they know better not to overlook that retention relies on giving a lot of what audiences desire most.

A DOCUMENTARY CLAIMED THE TOP SPOT ON NETFLIX LIST OF ITS MOST POPULAR FILMS TO BECOME A GLOBAL HIT FOR THE FIRST TIME

The "Tinder Swindler" documentary made the top with 5.2M streams, dethroning Netflix teen rom-com "Through My Window" after a local mega marketing campaign targeting 15-20 yo. It's not the first time we have seen a Documentary in and amongst the Tops, but a few go even further and become global hits.

AMERICAN STREAMS PLUNGED 25 POINTS WHILE SPANISH CONTENT STREAMS ROCKETED BY 9 POINTS AND EUROPEAN BY 6!

American content represents 52% of catalogue share but only accounts for 35% of Top100 movies streams, mainly in Action content. Spanish audiences were more eager for other tastes in European content (16% streams), local content accounts for 22% of the streams within its 10% share of the catalogue.

DRAMA SHINES AT #1 BOOSTED BY LOCAL AND EUROPEAN CONTENT (11.3M)

Romance stands as the #3 most-streamed genre with local hit "Through My Window" and Turkish movie "Ask Taktikleri." Turkey telenovelas have become a regular in linear-TV programming. Will streaming steal this domestic audience too? UK content shines out in Documentary and Drama due to Netflix hit "Tinder Swindler" in this combo of crime-meets-scam-meets-Catch Me If You Can-meets the perils of modern dating.

SPANISH TOP 30 SHOW A PICTURE OF DIVERSITY IN GENRES AND PRODUCTION COUNTRIES

Prestigious filmmakers such as Almodovar and Oscar-contender movies such as "The Power of Dog" are up there on par with pure entertainment proposals such as "Skyscraper", "Tall Girl 2", and "Home Team".

PALME D'OR 'TITANE', 'EL SUSTITUTO' AND OTHER INDEPENDENT MOVIES POP UP IN THE CHART AFTER A THEATRICAL JOURNEY

Theatrical might not be business as usual after the pandemic, but independent players have secured a new income window: OTTs.

FROM THE BIG SCREEN TO SVOD

"Titane" held its own for weeks at the box office, competing with Majors hits for a seat on the big screen. In its SVOD entry on Amazon, Julia Ducournau made 406K streams, only behind Karma Films' "El Sustituto" with 544K streams. The last title had a very lacklustre theatrical trip with 125.658€ at the box office while "Titane" accounted for 246.016€ according to Comscore reports.

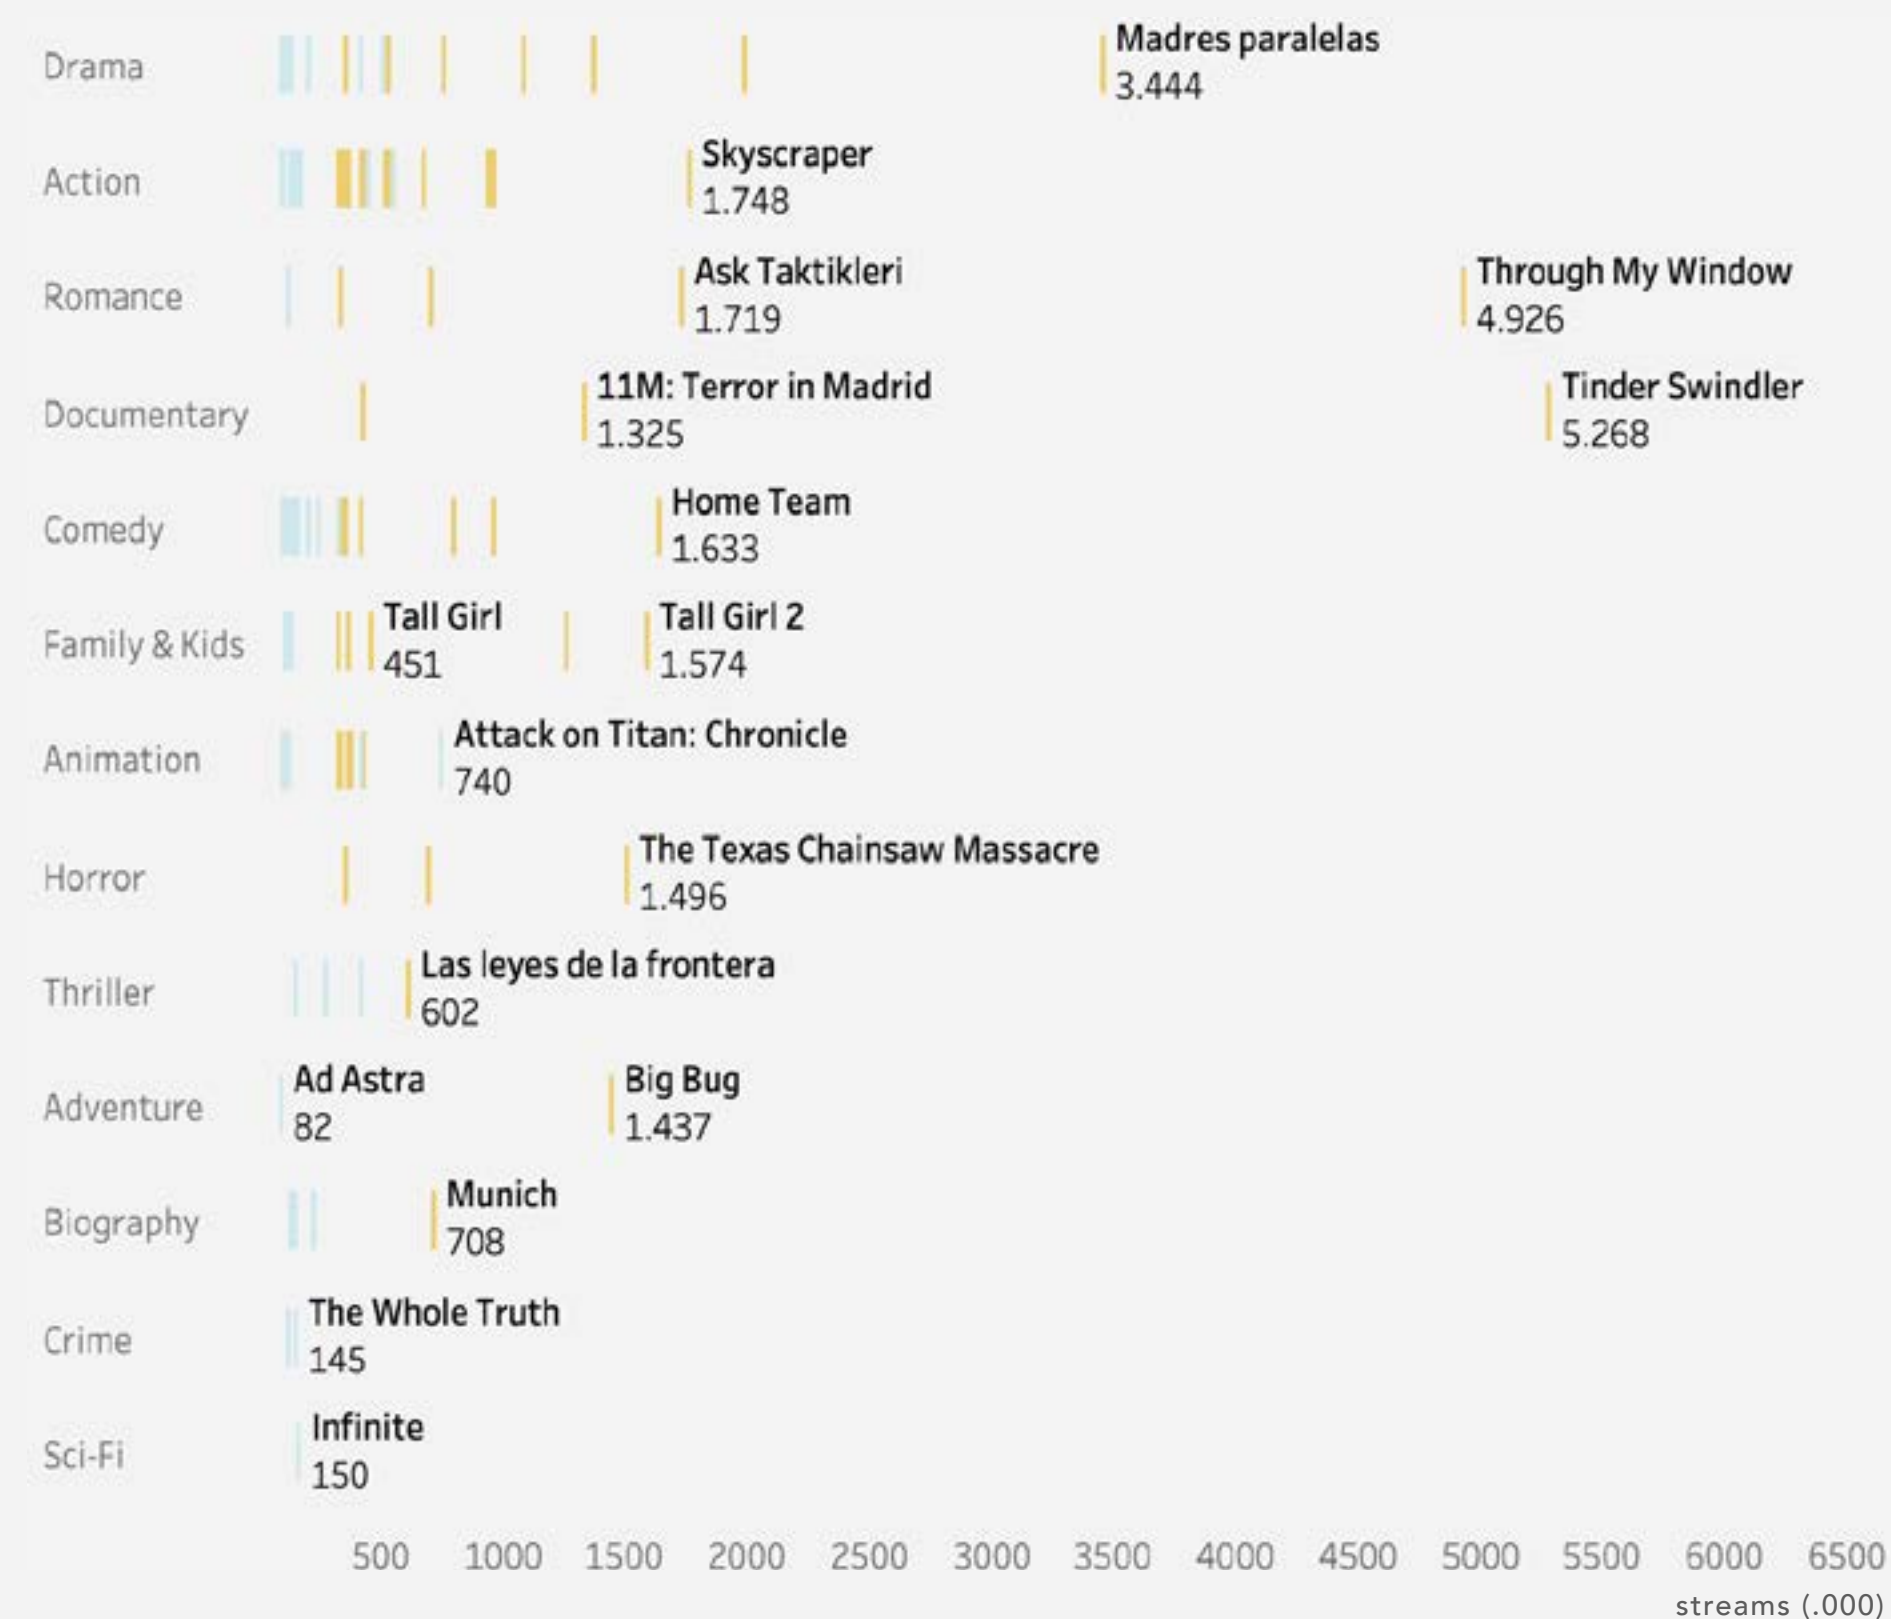

IN FEBRUARY, SPANISH ROMANCE AND DRAMA OVER-PERFORMED, CONTRIBUTING 8,62% AND 6% TO THE TOP100 STREAMS

European Dramas do better than/ local movies, thanks to German-speaking titles such as "My Best Friend Anne Frank", accounting for 1.9M streams at #4 on Netflix and "Das Privileg" (1.3M streams). One single movie, "Madres Paralelas", */ accounted for 22% of total Drama streams, closely followed by 5 European dramas with 16%.

SVOD seems to have broader open spaces to display a range of content to diverse audiences.

DRAMA, ROMANCE AND DOCUMENTARY FRONTRUNNERS MOVIES BESTED ACTION AS THE SECOND MOST-STREAMED GENRE

LOVE MOTH OR A TREND FOR LOVE?

We have been noticing a trend in Spain where some Romance content has soared in the charts, mainly with regard to shows/telenovelas ("The Scent of Passion", "Pasión de Gavilanes"). In February, the trend was mirrored on the Netflix movies grid and piled up 14% of total streams. Is this due to Saint Valentine or is there just a growing appetite here?

AMAZON HOLDS STEADY IN DRAMA, ACTION, COMEDY, ANIMATION AND THRILLER, where it did better than Netflix, with 1M streams with three movies "The Courier" (distributed domestically by Diamond Films), "My Son", and "The Voyeurs". Warner Spain's "Las Leyes de las Fronteras", which closed the San Sebastian Film Festival, hit theatres for a couple of weeks and took €665.774 at the domestic box office.

SPANISH DRAMA ALMODOVAR'S "MADRES PARALELAS" PERFORMED AS THE THIRD MOST-STREAMED MOVIE.

Theatrical sleeper landed on the N platform after 4-months at the Spanish box office. According to Comscore data, the film pulled in €2.685.166 - quite, a modest figure compared to its previous "Pain & Glory" (2019) €5.927.601, which followed a similar distribution pattern and went along the same path in the race for all the relevant awards.

SHONDA RHIMES'S MICRO-SERIES HIT "INVENTING ANNA" DIDN'T DEFEAT COLOMBIAN TELENOVELAS IN SPAIN: ONLY 6 SHOWS ACCOUNTED FOR 22% OF TOTAL STREAMS

"The Scent of Passion" and "The Queen of Flow" amassed together at Top 2, 57M streams, which represents something of a flop in views compared to last month when only "The Scent of Passion" collected 56.4M streams.

DRAMAS HAVE DETHRONED COMEDIES AND LICENSED SHOWS THAT HAD OCCUPIED THE FRONT ROWS OF THE TOP 10 IN PREVIOUS REPORTS AND KEPT THE WARMEST SPOTS IN OTHER MARKETS SUCH AS GERMANY OR THE UK

We are used to seeing Drama best Comedy in movies, but it's less unusual in shows charts where diverse genres are starting to grow in streams. Action has lost ground, dropping positions and making room for Animation and Crime content to expand, with local "Toy Boy", "The Sinner", "Ozark", or "One of Us is Lying" We have to scroll down to #10 to find the first licensed American TV show, "Superstore" and "The Office".

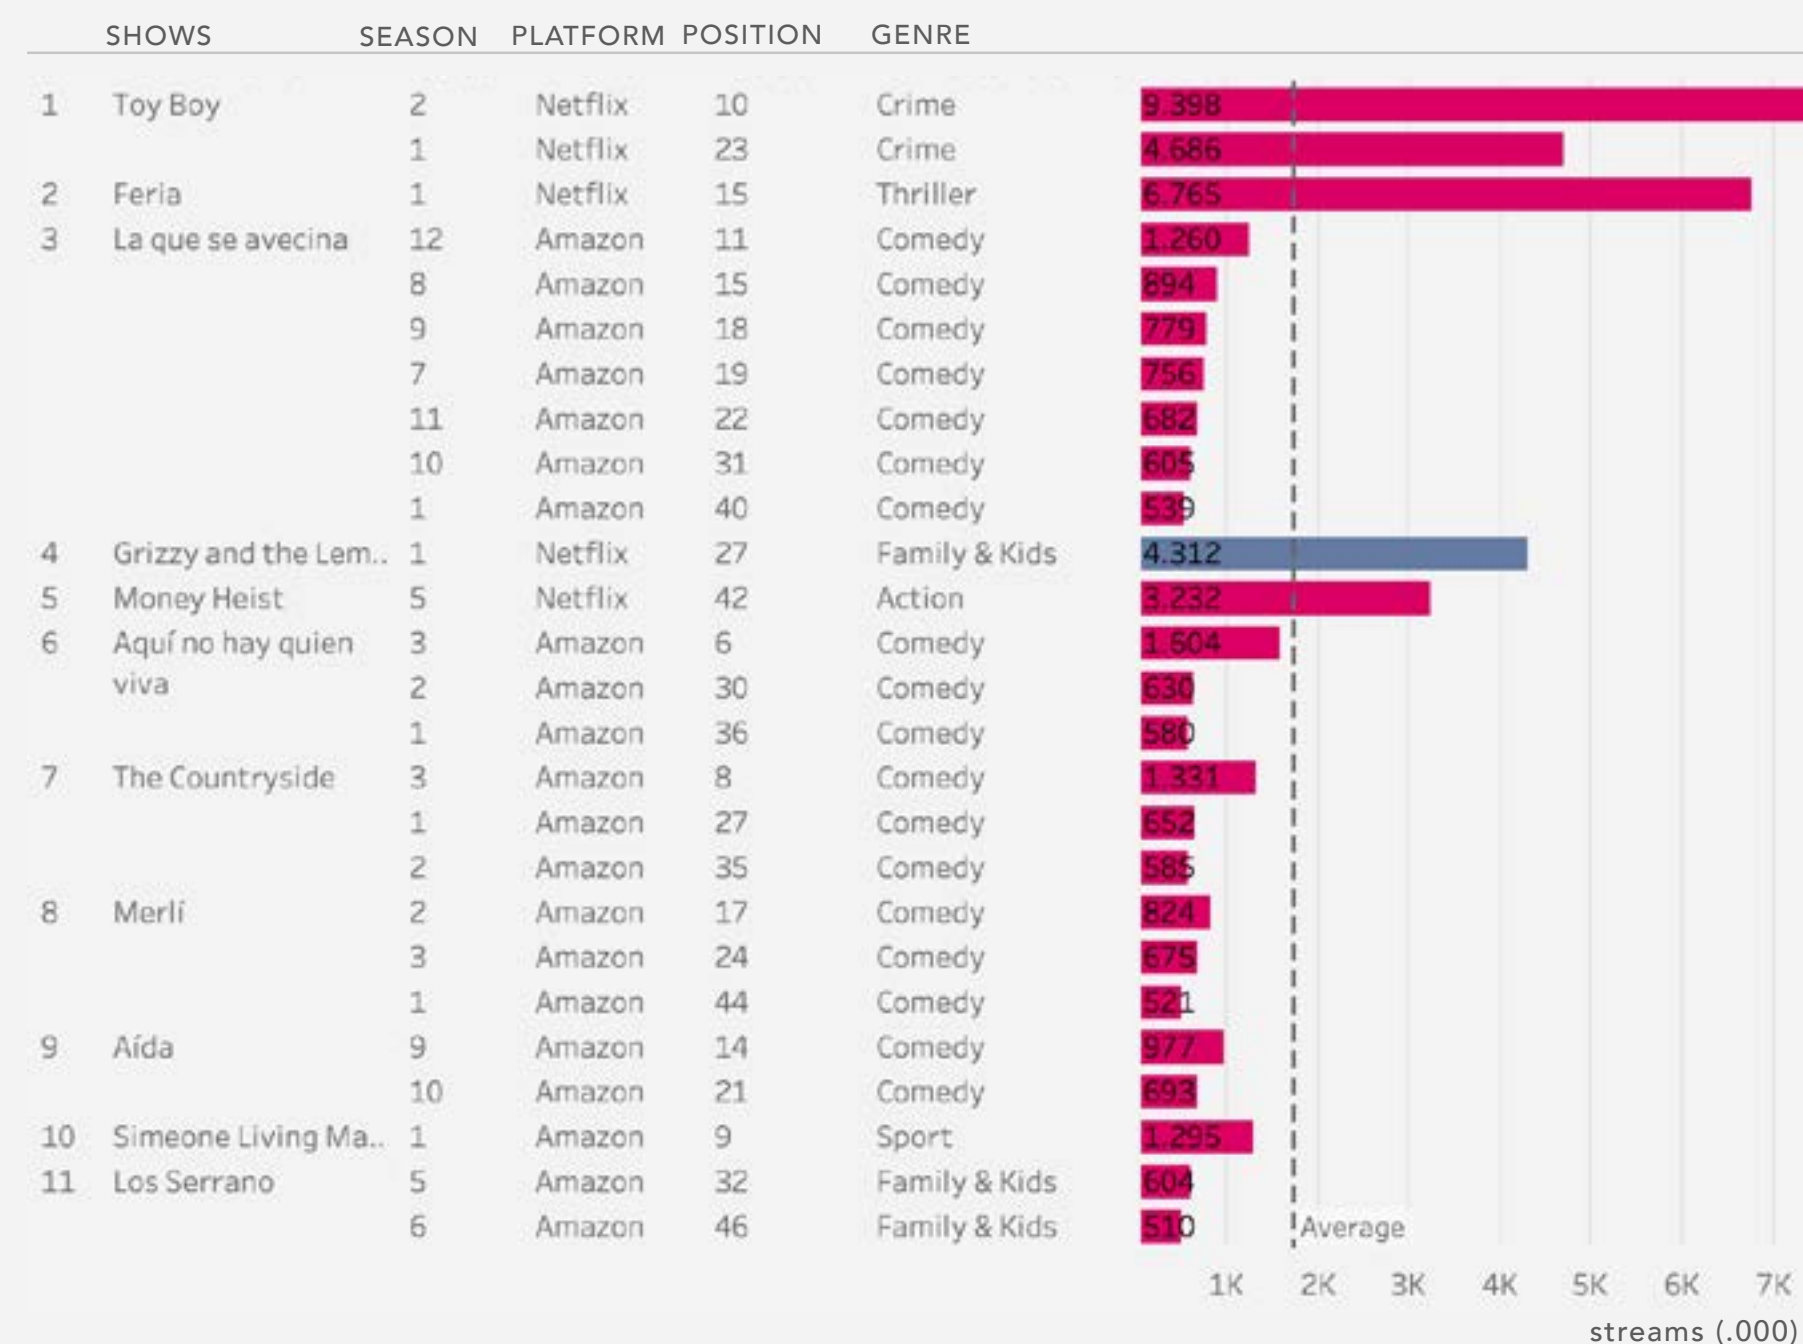

"SQUIDGAME" STANDS OUT IN NETFLIX'S HUNT FOR THE NEXT ASIAN HIT

Coming-of-age South Korean zombie apocalypse drama "All of Us Are Dead" entered the charts with 16.8M streams. The series is based on the Naver webtoon by Joo Dong-Geun. The Internet is a gold mine for the precious fan-base effect, and Netflix knows it. Not for the first time they have delved into the depths of the network to find a gem.

CONTRIBUTION TO DRAMA STREAMS

IN FEBRUARY, ONLY A SINGLE EUROPEAN CONTENT MADE THE TOP100 IN SPAIN, AND THE NUMBER OF LOCAL PRODUCTIONS FELL BY 2 POINTS

Spanish "Toy Boy" seasons 2 and 1 collected 14M streams; the second season was the most-streamed content of the month. The show is one of the recycled IP that Netflix fished from free-to-air broadcasting, where they had a modest audience rate and made it an international sensation (i.e: Money Heist). The French computer-animated Kid show produced by Studio Hari, "Grizzy & the Lemmings", took position 4 in the grid.

FROM LINEAR TV TO A GLOBAL AUDIENCE WITH NOT MUCH OF AN ECHO

"Toy Boy", produced by Atresmedia and Plano a Plano, was aired in September 2019 on Antena 3. In 2020, the show landed on Netflix, enjoying global attention and renewing for a second season premiere in February 2022.

"Feria", a Filmax production commissioned by Netflix, is a local fantasy-thriller set in the early 90s in Andalusia. Content that has little appeal beyond its niche, it collected 6.7M streams -a figure it can never even dream of reaching in the free-to-air TV arena. Ripping the band-aid off: Spanish shows didn't make the grades seen in previous months and can still hardly be called hits.

“The Scent of Passion”, “The Queen of Flow”, “Inventing Anna”, and “All of Us Are Dead” did outstrip the rest of the most-watched shows in any genre, all of them streamed on Netflix. Even if Drama hit, “The Scent of Passion” collected 38M streams, for the first time, can speak of a balanced Drama category with a number of titles standing out at the top.

“I am Georgina” reality show continues to hold firm?, as it’s been standing still in the charts since January 27. Usually, Amazon and Netflix deploy content in this department, but this month Georgina didn’t find a suitable competitor in the Top100.

DRAMA ON NETFLIX ACCOUNTS FOR 40% OF TOTAL STREAMS IN FEBRUARY AND RECORDS 153M STREAMS FOR THE GENRE IN THE MARKET

Crime and Animation made the podium on Netflix but were eclipsed by the classified second-best genre, Comedy, thanks to Amazon rates with 73M streams on both SVOD platforms.

In Animation, “The Cuphead Show!” and “Disenchantment” find a spot by the fire. Based on the award-winning video game, the show runs as the genre’s frontrunner with 10.6M Streams. Following closely, with 9.9M streams, the Meant-for-adults “Disenchantment” is Groening’s first production to appear exclusively on a streaming service (he previously created The Simpsons and Futurama for the Fox Broadcasting Company.)

HOT CONTENT IN SPAIN

“THROUGH MY WINDOW.”

Among all the Netflix achievements that can be debated upon, there is one thing the film industry must undeniably concede: Netflix gets along with teens. The very opposite of the independent sector, which seems to really have it in for the 15-25 age group target. Netflix features teens. Netflix knows teen trends and understands teens (how scary!). Does it mean it's a reliable segment? Nope. But better feed that beast rather than others.

Cinemas, Studios, broadcasts, and platforms (and pretty much any folk working in the entertainment industry) are desperate to attract the segment. Disappointing results are everywhere. Recently, Deadline reported on the linear relaunch of BBC Three, the channel dedicated to younger viewers, branded a flop after an £80million investment.

As seen in almost every chart, Adriana Godoy's book adaptation "Through My Window" secured a bunch of streams. Before the books were a hit, Adriana already had a vast and loyal digital audience on Wattpad. A playground social platform for writers and fanfic lovers. Buoyed by 250M readings on Wattpad, the publishing house was in no doubt it was a sure bet.

Can you imagine how engaged the Wattpad community was with Netflix's adaptation? Hundreds of thousands of social media posts and edits circulate on the Internet, feeding the buzz. During the film's first week, Adriana Godoy confirmed the two other sequels on Netflix. Netflix is becoming a master in finding IP here and there, digging into Wattpad and the entrails of Internet networks around the globe. In October 2021, the streaming service announced Netflix Book Club hosted by Emmy-winning actress, Uzo Aduba - an open space to read, stream, and talk about Netflix adaptations and discover what's next on the global readers' to-be-read list. (And let's not be naïf here; obviously, they are clearly looking for feedback as to what is likely to be the next most streamable hit).

Something is a fact: books that Netflix turn into pop culture phenomena blast up to the top of bestseller lists long after they are first published; works like the Bridgerton books (18 years later) and The Queen's Gambit (37 years later).

Are readers about to become loyal streamers? The upcoming chapters will reveal all*.

TOP 10 ITALY RESEMBLES THE SPANISH TOP 10, BUT WITH A SIGNIFICANT GAP OF HALF STREAMS!

Do Italians prefer Series to Movies? While the Spanish Top 3 exceed 13,5M streams, Italy remains weaker, with under 6M streams at Top 3. The truth is, series have always attracted more streams. Still, the Italian Movies grid has been losing steam since December (Top 100 Movies December 46.9M streams and in February 38.5M streams with a six-month average of 38M streams. Spain followed the same tendency, but smoothly, and its records show that it has been consistently over 50M streams.

“TINDER SWINDLER” DOCUMENTARY PHENOMENON CLAIMED #1 WITH 2.6M STREAMS, THE LOWEST FIGURES IN THE REPORT

True-crime Simon Leviev’s scheme is followed by Spanish teen romance and Turkish How-to-lose-a-guy-in-10-Days vibe resonance “Ask Taktikleri” (1.3M streams)

THE BRITISH SHARE ROSE 5 POINTS IN THE CATALOGUE SHARE AND THE STREAMING RATE FROM LAST MONTH WITH 20 MOVIES IN THE TOP 100, OF WHICH 16 STREAMED ON AMAZON

“The Good Liar” (#7, 1M Stream), “The Hitman’s Wife’s Bodyguard” (#16) and “Munich” (#37) are among the Top 40. Italian productions dropped 5%, and no film made the Top10 as usual.

AMERICAN ACTION RETURNS TO #1 AS THE MOST-STREAMED GENRE, A PLACE IT DIDN’T HOLD SINCE NOVEMBER 2021 DUE TO “RED NOTICE”

The stream force is driven by the “Birds of Prey” add-on to the Netflix catalogue in February with 1.3M and other crumbs of streams collected from 24 different titles (15 out of them were American).

6/10 films in the Top 10 are European. Drama, "My Best Friend Anne Frank", is the first Dutch film about this historical figure and won the Golden Film award in October 2021, and also did well at the box office in the Netherlands, where 100K tickets were sold French action thriller "A Tombeau Overt" (known internationally as "Restless") directed by Régis Blondeau, starring Franck Gastambide, based on the 2014 South Korean film "A Hard Day" by Kim Seong-hun, made #10 on Netflix with 803K streams.

LOCAL COMEDIES HOLD THE BEST MARK WITH 8,20% OF TOTAL STREAMS, WHILE EUROPEAN MOVIES LEAD THE DRAMA AND ROMANCE GENRES

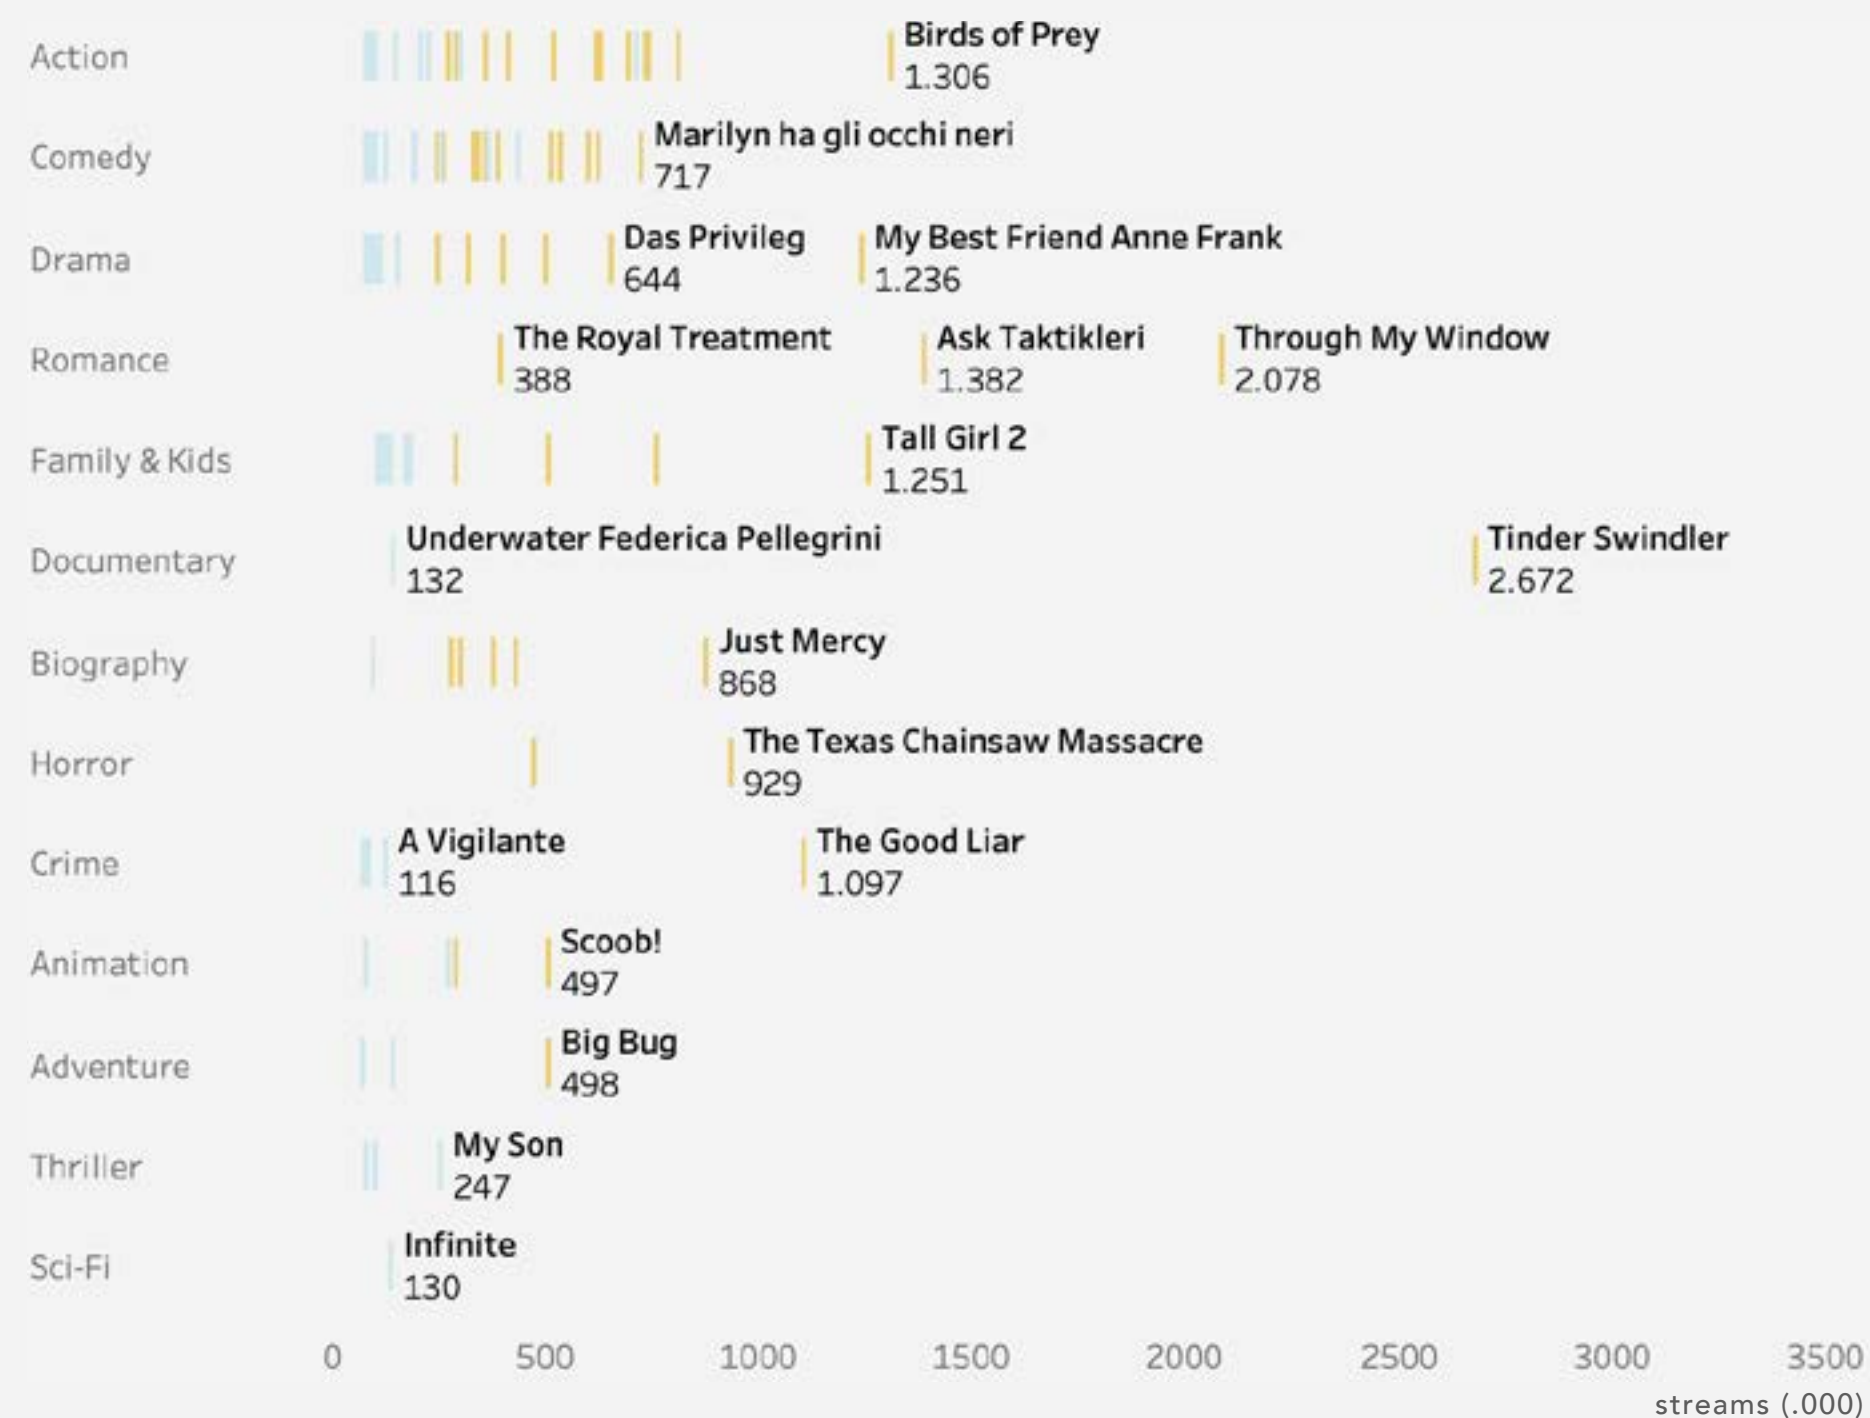

There is no stiff competition for Romance movies, which lead the category with 5,39% of the grid. European Drama did better than genre, contributing 5% of Top100 streams, followed by local productions.

LOCAL FILMS CONTRIBUTED 15% OF TOTAL DRAMA GRADES, EQUAL TO EUROPEAN CONTENT

Sorrentino's "The Hand of God" continues to sit tight at #27 on Netflix with 493K streams after 15 weeks on the grid. Leverage that's only possible playing at home as in neighbouring markets the movie has long gone.

Netflix remains comfortably ahead of the field, with almost 19% of total streams coming from Action streams on its domains, while Amazon scores 6% (2.1M streams). "Birds of Prey" leads genre while the rest of the titles remain all under the 800K stream mark.

COMEDY IS SLOWLY CREEPING UPWARDS WITH 6.9M STREAMS (13,42% ON NETFLIX AND 5% ON AMAZON)

The laughing department is full of local productions and theatrical hits that find a second life on SVOD. The good ranking of the genre is not due to a clear frontrunner but to a matter of accumulation -it's the second-largest genre with 21 movies in the grid, only behind Action with 24 films.

ITALY IS UNHARMED BY THE GLOBAL TRENDS HAVING “MANIFEST” BEFORE THE SHONDALAND HIT “INVENTING ANNA.”

While Europe stayed tuned in to based-on-true-crimes “Tinder Swindler” and the Anna Delvey scheme, Italy kept other titles in the sweet spot. Supernatural Drama “Manifest” ranked #1 for the second month in a row with 30.9M streams (Accounting for 81,6M streams).

With 13M streams in Italy, Shonda Rhimes’ production, “Inventing Anna”, is the show’s lowest stream rate within the five markets.

ITALY LOST CATALOGUE SHARE, RATE OF STREAMS AND POSITIONS IN THE TOP IN FEBRUARY COMPARED TO PREVIOUS MONTHS

With local productions usually among the Top5, the Italian adaptation of the Amazon Studios comedy show “LOL: Last One Laughing” stands, however, at #6.

ASIAN CONTENT CONQUERED THE CATALOGUE WITH AN 11% SHARE BUT ONLY GRABBED 6% OF TOTAL STREAMS IN THE GRID

Thanks to “All of Us Are Dead” Korean Drama above 10.4M streams. The rest of the content is Anime and performed below average, with frontrunner “Attack on Titan” (#20) available on both platforms (2.6M streams on Netflix and 1.5M on Amazon)

SPANISH CRIME AND THRILLER ATTRACTED 3,37% OF TOTAL GRID STREAMS THANKS TO “TOY BOY” AND “FERIA”

February was a weak month for local and European content beyond comedies. Netflix’s new releases made the shortlist of most-streamed European content. The crime show featuring a blind policewoman, “Blanca”, continues to occupy middle-of-the-table positions with 2.3M streams and stays in the chart for a second month.

The six-part “Blanca” had been sold by Lux to M6, France’s number two terrestrial network, and to Spain’s top linear channel Telecinco, ahead of the show’s release in November 2021. RAI-1 Channel aired the premiere before it landed on Netflix.

NETFLIX AMERICAN DRAMA WAS THE MOST-STREAMED GENRE IN THE PAST 60 DAYS (38% STREAMS)

We're not used to seeing Drama rate so high in the show charts, and it doesn't match European film liking in the subject. But when the audience request content, Netflix provides it. #1 show "Manifest" largely bested the runner-up "Inventing Anna", accounting for a 17M streams gap.

AMAZON STANDS OUT AS A COMEDY SUPPLIER WITH 8,39% STREAMS DUE TO ADAPTED TV FORMATS TO THE LOCAL LANDSCAPE

The gap between platforms has been reduced and Amazon holds a bet for popular TV formats ("LOL", "Camera Café"). Out of curiosity, why does the same content perform differently on each platform? How radically different is the audience's behaviour? Take "The Big Bang Theory" as the most-streamed comedy show on Netflix, with 29M streams, while Amazon collected 1.7M streams.

Crime made the podium with 31M streams on Netflix: "Riverdale" (12M Streams), "Toy Boy", or Karen M. McManus's novel debut "One of Us is Lying". Closely behind, Animation shows the diversity of streamers with "Disenchantment", an adult satirical sitcom.

HOT CONTENT IN ITALY

“LOL: LAST ONE LAUGHING”

Reports reveal that Amazon has a mission to make the audience laugh by betting on Comedies. That’s why it makes total sense as a business movement to replicate and scale up a TV format that works in the primary markets. When the ingredients are good, the recipe is tasty.

“LOL: Last One Laughing” is an international comedy format distributed through the Amazon Prime Video platform that already has 11 licensed adaptations for Australia, France, Germany, Italy, Albania, Spain, Mexico, India, Brazil and Canada, plus an unlicensed adaptation for Iran. The show recalls classic linear TV reality, where ten local and well-known comedians stay in a living-room studio with hidden cameras for a few hours. During this time, they must try to make their opponents laugh while not reacting to their opponents’ attempts to make them break.

The original idea was developed first in Japan with a show called “Hitoshi Matsumoto Presents Documental”, also a Prime Original and has been aired for nine seasons since 2016.

The Italian edition is hosted by singer Fedez and TV personality Mara Maionchi. The first season was released in April 2021, and season 2 was released in February and March 2022.

In Italy, Spain and Germany, we spot the content in the charts. However, Season 2 ignited a spark among Italian audiences, reaching 12.5M streams and ranking #6 of the Top 100 shows. We couldn’t say it’s one of the most popular content, but it helps position the platform at the top of the audience’s mind as the place to go when you are up for a good laugh.

LOCAL PRODUCTIONS WIN +9 POINTS CATALOGUE SHARE AND RAISE THEIR SCORES WITH 5 NATIONAL MOVIES AMONG THE TOP 20

Coming from 4% of total streams in January, this month, local movies stirred audiences and collected 18% streams of the Top 100. Sci-fi comedy "Big Bug" ranked #3 with 2.4M streams, only behind global phenomena "Tinder Swindler" and "Through My Window."

LOCAL ACTION SHOWED A DRIVE UNSEEN BEFORE: DON'T LET THE MOB TRICK YOU

American content gathered 9M streams among 20 movies, with a modest average of 455K streams by title. French Action holds the second-best position with 4.1M streams collected only by 5 films, with 821K streams, an average performance. The high scoring is due to local Netflix production "A Tombeau Ouvert" aka "Restless", ranking in the Top 10 in most markets. Régis Blondeau's feature reached 2M streams in France.

UK PRODUCTIONS REPRESENT 8% OF THE CATALOGUE BUT COLLECT OVER 13% OF CHART STREAMS

British documentary "Tinder Swindler" stockpiles all the Documentary figures with 6.1M streams while "Downfall: The Case" collects the crumbs, 387K streams (#47), and are the only two documentaries still standing in the chart.

EUROPEAN DRAMA (7% TOTAL STREAMS) AND ROMANCE (6,5%) ARE CLASSIFIED IN THE MOST-STREAMED PODIUM ALONG WITH FRONTRUNNER GENRE FRENCH-ACTION (7%).

Teen romance "Through My Window" scored 3.8M streams taking up all the room of the genre. Drama movies show more diversity in terms of content with "My Best Friend Anne Frank" (2.3M streams) or supernatural "Das Privileg."

LOCAL PRODUCTIONS ARE PRESENT IN VARIOUS GENRES CONTRIBUTING SIGNIFICANTLY TO TOP 100 STREAMS: ACTION, ADVENTURE, COMEDY AND DRAMA

Former thieves team land in "Paradise Beach" (2018) as the second-most-streamed content, ranked #14 on Netflix with 1M streams. Above Average "Le Chant du Loup" is a 2019 French action thriller featuring a submarine's sonar operator who must end the threat of nuclear war. Amazon has found a sweet spot in local theatrical comedies as in other markets.

LOCAL AND EUROPEAN DRAMA VASTLY IMPROVE REGARDING THEIR PREVIOUS RATE CONTRIBUTION:

European movies deploy 62% of genre streams (a rise of 31 points since January), and french/ French films account for 17,5% of Drama streams thanks to "Conviction" and "Custody." The latter was screened in the main competition section of the 74th Venice International Film Festival and took the Silver Lion. The film completed its award journey, winning Césars for Best Film, Best Actress and Best Original Screenplay.

NOT ALL THE CONTENT WORKS THE SAME WAY

Amazon prefers Comedies (2,8% of Top 100 streams), its previous genre, to attract audiences. On the other side, Netflix has a mastery of various genres, which gives them the flexibility to pivot among audiences. Netflix took up 89% of the Top100 charts, cornering Amazon down to 10%.

ACTION ON NETFLIX REACHED #1 IN THE CHART

collecting 12.5M streams, mainly pulled by "A Tombeau Ouvert" starring Franck Gastambide and "The Equalizer 2" based on the TV series of the same name was released by Sony Pictures in 2018. In spite of mixed reviews, the production was a commercial success, grossing $190 million worldwide on a production budget of $62 million. Nowadays, Action films are sweating their guts out trying to reach these box office figures again.

TEENAGERS AND YOUNG ADULTS ARE FINDING THEIR PLACE ON NETFLIX

Romance comedies, crime plots and dramas featuring teens are forging a way for themselves up the charts. It could be related to the teen tendency to devour digital products or metaverse initiatives that further feed audiences' insatiable curiosity while streaming content. It is, though, common to find teen book hits echoing their adaptations on platforms. For example, "Through My Window", which was located on top of the charts in almost every single market, was born on Wattpad.

ASIAN CONTENT GOT 22% OF TOTAL STREAMS WITH THE "ALL OF US ARE DEAD" BOOM AND ANIME SHOWS STANDING OUT WITHIN THE TOP20

France was the major consumer of Anime content in February. South Korean coming-of-age zombie apocalypse horror content accounted for 23.2M streams. The erotic thriller drama, "Dark Desire", propels Mexican content into the Top 5 for the first time in a while with 18.3M streams. Related content; "Queen of The Flow" has been moving up and down within the Top20 for the past months.

Following the global trend, "Inventing Anna" ranked #1, but the leading position was not secured by a large gap. The second best titles, "Raising Dion" and "All of Us Are Dead", garnered over 23M streams. Anna almost has to share the crown and the VIP zone with mini-superhero and zombies.

AMERICAN CONTENT KEEPS THE BIGGEST SHARE OF THE CATALOGUE WITH 41 SHOWS IN THE GRID

Still, American total streams are plunging, in comparison to figures from the summer reports.- the Ever-present American content bests other countries in Dramas (93.5M streams) driven by Female-oriented shows such as "Sweet Magnolias", "The Vampire Diaries", "Grey's Anatomy" or "Melrose Place."

DRAMA IS THE FIRST GENRE ON BOTH PLATFORMS WITH SIGNIFICANT GAP DIFFERENCES: 33% ON NETFLIX AND 4,14% ON AMAZON

Drama content seems to be better balanced than in previous months, with close titles reaching various audiences on Netflix, mirroring the content. Amazon doesn't seem to enjoy the broad range of targets in France and sticks to old-times TV series.

ANIME RAMPED UP IN FEBRUARY ON NETFLIX, ACCOUNTING FOR 25% OF TOTAL STREAMS

Why does this fuel content? "All of Us Are Dead" might have ignited Asian content. Off the screens, France was preparing the ground to host one of the most prominent Manga events in Europe in March: the Paris Manga & Sci-Fi Show. France has been one of the biggest markets for Anime since the genre blossomed in the 90s when TVs started airing tsuch content.

JOKING ASIDE, LET'S TALK ABOUT COMEDIES

The third-most streamed genre accounts for 45M streams. As frontrunner "The Woman in the House": The dark comedy has been collecting streams since its release on January 28, amassing 23M in the past 6 weeks. It performed as the first show of the category in February with 15.7M streams.

HOT CONTENT IN FRANCE

“ALL OF US ARE DEAD”

Streaming platforms and broadcasters spend billions on content per year, craving to score the next breakout hit. Staying relevant is a harrowing flight (and a costly one.) “All of Us Are Dead” and K-dramas topple conventional wisdom about global viewing habits.

Since its release on January 28, Netflix’s original Korean show “All of Us Are Dead” has topped the global streaming giant’s weekly top 10 lists in 94 countries - including the US- with 124.79 million hours viewed. During the two weeks immediately following its release, it was the most-watched show globally among English- or non-English-language content.

Given the steady churn of releases, holding the leading spot is no small feat. Does it speak to audiences’ appetite for Asian content?

The zombie thriller is the second K-Drama after “Hellbound” to debut at the top. “Squid Game” started at No. 5 and took five days to ascend to the summit, evolving into a global phenomenon.

K-drama is proving to be a reliable recipe for success. The Korean entertainment industry has been a significant player in the world entertainment landscape for decades and has long been looking to capitalise on it. For its part, Netflix has been piping money into Korean content for years. Some reports pointed to an upping of the ante with an investment approaching $500 million in 2021. Finally, the strategy paid off with “Squid Game,” “My Name,” and “Hellbound,” among others. Some Asian content doesn’t transcend borders, but they hit big when they do. As a plus-point, it must be said that Asian content, particularly K-pop, are ready-made templates to reach audiences. Familiarity mixed with original-crazy ideas are welcome assets for capturing audiences and beating competition in the streaming era.

THE UK CROWNS ONE LOCAL TITLE AND GIVES ALMOST ALL THE REST TO AMERICA

This month's documentary "Tinder Swindler" climbs to position 1 representing the UK with 8.6M streams. The next UK titles are below position #17 and perform near average. A wide variety of genres of American films occupy the top 5 positions: "The Hunt", "13 Minutes", "Tall Girl 2" and "The Texas Chainsaw" collect 2M streams on average. Like in Germany, most of these titles target teenage and young adult audiences.

DOCUMENTARY IS THE SECOND PREFERRED GENRE IN THE UK

In a steady month-after-month trend, the UK consumes more than 85% of films in the English language. Action is the preferred genre for films with 15.3M streams, and this month Documentary shows its teeth in the second position with 11.5M streams. "Tinder Swindler" is not the only documentary British audiences loved: in #6 we find "Downfall: the Case" with 1.4M streams and in #10 "Jeen-Yuhs: A Kanye Trilogy" with 1.1M streams.

UK RAISES THE BAR OF EU MARKET TO 10%

In the past months, the usual share for EU films in the UK was around 6%. This month, 5 European titles are in the top 15 and help to conquer the symbolic 10% of the market. Some of these appear in successful positions also in Germany: "Through My Window", "Das Privileg", "Big Bug", "My Best Friend Anne Frank" and "Last Man Down" gather 1.2M streams each on average.

EUROPE SURPASSES UK DRAMA PRODUCTION THIS MONTH

27% of Drama is delivered by Europe, while the UK produces 10%. This is not the only genre where Europe is competitive. There are bits and drops of Europe in a wide number of genres like Action, Adventure, Animation and Romance.

THE UK HAS 20 TITLES IN THE TOP 100

When zooming into the European and local titles without the US, the predominance of the UK on the ranking is notable. 20 titles are local, and they hit the top 25 positions. However, only "Tinder Swindler" is able to perform above average. UK-produced "The Courier", "Munich", "The Power of the Dog", "The Bad Education", "Rooney" and "The Gentlemen" hit a bit less than 1M streams each, but are still in the overall top 25.

In the Action genre, Amazon contributes with 3.4M streams, but Netflix hits almost 12M streams in this favourite category. A less pronounced gap is palpable in the Comedy genre where Amazon manages to achieve 2M streams and Netflix 6.7M.

MOST OF AMAZON'S SHARE IS REACHED WITH CRUMBS

Like in all the analysed territories, Amazon's titles perform mostly below average. In the UK the two exceptions are the American Thriller "The Courier" in #17 with 971K streams and the Sports film "Rooney" with 703K streams. Notably, in the Thriller category Netflix doesn't have any title, giving "The Courier" the top 1 position for Thrillers and for Amazon at the same time.

THE UK DOESN'T GET OVER FRIENDS

This month again, "Friends" is the preferred series in the UK. The 90s sitcom obtained 70M streams. This show is followed by another American library title*: "The Big Bang Theory" with 40M streams and "Peppa Pig" with 32M streams. Below them the first Netflix Original "Inventing Anna" sneaks in, achieving 30M streams. The comedy "The Woman in the House" stomps with 21M streams in top 5.

AMERICAN LIBRARY COMEDY DOMINATES STREAMING NUMBERS IN THE UK

191M streams in the UK correspond to English-speaking Comedy, out of which 183M are for American comedies. The next preferred genre in the row is Drama which gets 92M streams out of which 72.5M are American. The US content supremacy is reflected in the overall share by origin where 95% of the content this month is English-speaking and 82% is American.

AN ASIAN SHOW SNEAKS IN THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING CLUB

The Korean drama "All of Us Are Dead" is the only series in all of the top 50 that is foreign, Asian, non-English-speaking. It obtains the #6 and 19M streams.

GERMANY'S TOP 10 IS 100% FOREVER YOUNG

All the movies in Germany's top 10 seem to have the same target audience: teenage and young adults. Characters range from hustlers to school girls and fashion influencers; genres include Comedy, Romance, Horror and even Documentary. "Tinder Swindler" and "Through My Window" in top 1 and top 2 respectively, are this month's icons of young adult streaming and cumulate 8M views together.

GERMANY BECOMES MORE AND MORE DIVERSE

By the end of 2021, in some months Germany cumulated up to 70% streams coming from the US and up to 80% of the top 100 streams corresponded to English-Speaking contents. However, the American dominant share has been declining in this first part of 2022 to give room to other origins. It is to be noted that Spanish-speaking teenager neighbours rom-com "Through My Window" is in top 2 with 2.3M streams and Turkish romance "Ask Taktikleri" in top 6 with 1.5M streams. Dutch-produced "My Best Friend Anne Frank" and French "Big Bug" hold top 9 and top 10 respectively. The presence of "Venom" in the top 15 raises the Asian share to 5%. While Action and Comedy are crowned as preferred genres the origins of the content in those genre is tending towards greater variety.

Although the top 5 is boosted by high-profile Spanish, German, Dutch and French titles, digging further we find under-radar films like the Polish kitesurfing rom-com "Pod Wiatr", the Italian romance "Time is Up" and "Untitled Bayern" with 400K streams on average.

THE CONTRIBUTION TO DRAMA IS EVEN THIS MONTH IN GERMANY

Although European Drama is not always the best-performing genre on VOD platforms, this month there's a high contribution of the Drama catalogue: Germany and Europe provide 64% of the drama titles, while other origins account for 37%.

Asian titles "All of Us Are Dead" (15M streams) and "Naruto" (11,5M streams) perform better in top #6 and #12 respectively.

EUROPEAN SHOWS CUT IT SHORT IN GERMANY

Only 5 titles made the Top100 chart; the shortest list recorded so far. "Toy Boy" is the indisputable winner of losers. With 6M streams, the show ranked #21, while Season 2, released during the month, didn't hit the audience hard enough to make it to the top. Besides the Spanish crime show, the grid is complete with local production.

It's not a good sign to have European shows below the 1M streams when Top Series are collecting +50M streams. There is an audience on the other side; it's not just interested in the European content offered.

All shows were streamed on Amazon: the 80/90's-children's TV show "Meister Eder und sein Pumuckl" accounted for more than 1.8M, and the LOL format adapted with German comedians almost touched the 1M stream mark.

As far as Dramas are concerned, the counter, overall, now stands at zero.

AMAZON HOLDS A SLIM NUMBER OF STREAMS ON COMEDY AND DRAMA

Comedy is crowned on Netflix with 178M streams (43% of total streams), while Amazon takes only a small chunk of this genre, just 34M (8%). As in other months, the gap in Drama is less pronounced: Netflix gathers 75M streams and Amazon 20M streams. Animation is the third preferred genre this month, including 51M streams on both platforms together.

AMAZON MIND THE GAP IN GERMANY

While Netflix's supremacy in the Top 100 list is not open to debate, Amazon finds a sweet audience among the Germans. It's the market with the greatest stream share, up to 17% in the face of the unbeatable 83% of Netflix. It's not a matter of catalogue profundness as Amazon won't have problems on the subject. Still, the behaviour indicates a new tendency of content consumption towards Comedies and local hits that is already palpable in other markets.

HOT CONTENT IN UK & GERMANY

“TINDER SWINDLER”

Can a Documentary become a global hit? The true-life story of a serial fraudster and the women he ensnared claimed the top spot on the Netflix list of its most popular films worldwide. It’s a first for “Tinder Swindler”, which enjoys hall-of-fame glory on Netflix. No other documentary achieves that distinction.

As revealed in the Netflix ranking, the Documentary racked up 45.8 million hours viewed worldwide during the first week of February. Only the first week, the dating scam content had cracked the prestigious Top 10’s platform ranking in more than 92 countries. In our report, the content leads the charts in every market: the UK heads the list with 8.6M streams, France tailing with 6.1M, Germany with 5.6M, Spain with 5.2M, and Italy stays behind with 2.6M.

According to Variety, before the figures had hardly appeared and were still being digested, Netflix was already in talks with producers about dramatizing the documentary. However, no formal plans have been announced.

The scale of Netflix’s reach is such that almost anyone who pops up at the top on the streaming platforms will succumb to the Netflix fame experience overnight.

Netflix fame opens up those who might not be prepared for international recognition to intense levels of scrutiny. Simon Leviev (the swindler) signed with Hollywood talent manager Gina Rodriguez, who has turned the scandals of an imposing roster of unscrupulous figures into deals, further exposure, and cash.

Leviev also launched an account on Cameo, charging $200 for personal use and $1,400 for business openings. Fame can be a blessing or a burden. It depends on who capitalizes on the money that can come from it.

Lisa Nishimura, Netflix’s VP Documentary and Independent Film, has a lot to celebrate as she and her team elevate the genre on the platform.

Netflix holds a special spot for non-fiction productions with proven popularity, such as Last Dance, Tiger King, Cheer, Social Dilemma or recently hot title Downfall. In contrast, theatres classified the content as “hard-to-sell” and SVOD platforms keep their creative teams at work trying to find new stories. There were no reports on “Tinder Swindler” campaigns. Netflix barely invests P&A in this kind of content word-of-mouth, and algorithms seem to work reasonably enough in favour.

GLOBAL TAKES

- 1 / Teens belong to Netflix. Still, are they the audience to be nurtured? While other streamers focus on adult dramas to attract the over 35 targets, Netflix seems to prefer young content coming from book bestsellers, fanfictions sites and other digital trend sites. Netflix knows where to dig to find teen gold. Netflix charts usually have a Teen content standing out in the top positions. This month, all the markets - except the UK - ranked in the first 3 positions for Adriana Godoy's teen romance adaptation "Through My Window": (Spain as the domestic market, 4.9M; France, 3.8M; Germany 2.3M and Italy 2M)
- 2 / Improve the experience and let the content recommend content. Netflix has been claiming advances in algorithm recommendations to improve the experience. In February, we saw proof that good related content programming and algorithms work. "Inventing Anna" and "Tinder Swindler" climb to the leading positions, and other crime and thriller content followed within Top20. The Crime genre was average, the fourth most-watched genre, collecting between 10 to 13% of Top 100 streams, which is not the norm. Was the algorithm feeding the "fraud characters" tags with the traction of top content?
- 3 / American Comedies shows collect 40-50% of total streams in Germany and UK. Still, Movie Top100 shows hope for diversity. Netflix's dependence on (ever-present) American libraries is highly concerning. Particularly in Germany and the UK, the taste for comedies and sitcoms is so marked that other genres are cornered. Movies list shows a distinct reality, where there is room for diversity of genres, content and representation.
- 4 / Germany and UK are the markets less influenced by Netflix's global hits and new releases. Both markets have shown a quite different platform consumption from neighbour markets, which are leakier*/more open to? to Original content and exclusive releases. The king content in both territories are the licensed broadcast sitcoms: "The Big Bang Theory", "Friends" and "Brooklyn Nine-Nine." That leads us to two potential issues for Netflix that won't play in its favour in the future: branding perception - linked to platform use - and the cost of maintaining these sitcoms or the potential churn rate when Netflix loses the licensing.
- 5 / LATAM Dramas gain traction in the Spanish market. For the second month in a row, drama romances got the winning hand, accounting for 21% of Drama streams. The travelability of Spanish-speaking content is such that it is conquering new territories in France and Italy. At the same time, Spanish titles had no problem crossing borders in Europe; now, LATAM productions are benefiting from the sown ground in the ancient continent. Colombian "Queen of Flow" made 3% of total streams in France and Mexican erotic-thriller "Dark Desire" 4% in Italy.
- 6 / France remains one of the most promising markets for Asian content due to the traditional affinity dating back to the 90s, while other markets boost consumption. In France, Asian content collected 22% of the Top100. Anime was the second-most-streamed content in France, only behind Drama, including K-drama "All of Us Are Dead" (23.2M streams). Spain has been registering a growing interest in the content in the past months, and in February, Asian movies took 7% of total streams. Behind, come Germany and Italy.
- 7 / Amazon bets on TV formats adaptations in the key markets to anchor an audience and tend to local fare. In the past reports, we've seen Amazon invested in non-scripted hybrid formats with realities, local docuseries showcasing local talents, and other inherited TV formats that had always played well on the grids. The "LOL" format has ascended in the charts in Italy and Germany and has reported some streams in Spain and France.
- 8 / The Oscars race traction didn't significantly impact the charts a few weeks before the global event. Although "The Power of the Dog", "The Hand of God", and "Madres Paralelas" were present in the charts, their results are relatively disappointing: the 12-category-nominated "The Power of the Dog" reaches #14 in Spain with 1M streams, #26 in the UK and #46 in Germany. Almodovar's "Madres Paralelas" only scored the leading positions in Spain, ranking #3 with 3.4M streams after a long journey in cinemas. "Don't Look Up" dances between Top15-Top20 in the markers, but is under 1M streams. Sorrentino's "The Hand of Dog" does even worse. Will the data from March show any change in this trend? Netflix was one of the most nominated studios, so we will surely see an increase in the consumption of Oscar-contenders in the following report.
- 9 / Italy was flying 'solo' in February and seemed a bit off from Netflix while pushing Amazon content up in the charts. The Italian market has been registering some detachment in the total streams, with a fall in viewing. This month was remarkably unaffected by the significant hits of the months, with some tendency to appreciate local fare Amazon is showing its face earlier in the charts within the Top10 and gained share in streams, moving up to 17% in February (a rise of almost 2 points vis-à-vis the previous month). Still, Amazon maintains the highest stream share in Germany, with 18-20%.
